Former Acting GSA Administrator to Head New Regional Office in Denver

CLEVELAND, OHIO – Boyd Watterson Asset Management, LLC (“Boyd Watterson”) is pleased to announce that effective today the former acting Administrator of the Federal Government’s General Services Administration (“GSA”), Timothy O. Horne has joined the company and will be launching the Boyd Watterson Western Regional office in Denver, Colorado.

In this role, Tim will be responsible for continuing to grow and maintain Boyd Watterson’s investment footprint throughout the western third of the United States and will shepherd the growth of our office and our employees in Denver. As investment manager of one of the largest portfolios of government leased real estate in the country, Boyd Watterson is thrilled to be able to add the expertise and experience that Mr. Horne brings from his career with the government.

Mr. Horne comes to Boyd Watterson after a long and illustrious career at GSA that began as a business center manager, included a long tenure as the Regional Commissioner of the Public Buildings Service for GSA’s Region 8, and was highlighted when he was named the Acting Administrator of GSA in 2017. A lifelong resident of Denver, Colorado, Mr. Horne is a member of the presidentially appointed, bipartisan National Infrastructure Advisory Committee which advises DHS and the President regarding key infrastructure issues across the country. Mr. Horne is a graduate of Regis University.
